

MISSIONAL LIFE

Assessment & Application Worksheet

In light of our calling and to live as missionaries, it is worth our time to assess how we are doing, and to consider some tangible next steps. We are not trying to create a new legalism around mission, but we do want to promote a culture of vision and accountability where we “consider how we may provoke one another to love and good deeds” (Hebrews 10:24). On that note, here are four sets of questions to help us re-energize a sense of movement in our lives, and in our church.

PRAYER

Assessment: List a few people you are currently praying for.

Application: Who can I start praying for?

RELATIONSHIP

Assessment: List a few people that you have built a relationship with. (i.e. it would be reasonable to invite them over or have coffee with them, or at least bring up a meaningful topic of conversation with them)

Application: Who can I invite to do something outside of our normal interaction? (e.g. a meal, a run, an event)

CONVERSATION

Assessment: When is the last time I had a spiritual conversation with someone? (i.e. talked about their church background, beliefs, shared my faith story with them, etc.)

Application: Who can I invite into a conversation about these things in the next few weeks?

COMMUNITY

Assessment: When is the last time I invited someone into our community (e.g. church, GC, middle space)

Application: Who can I invite into one of these things?
